RESERVE BANK MEN MAY QUIT EXCHANGE

New Federal Statute Limits Privileges of Officers-Much Discussion Caused Here.

Limitations placed by the Federal reserve act upon the activities of ofticers and directors of the member banks of the Federal reserve system will, it is generally believed, both by many Washington financiers and officials of the Treasury Department, preclude any individual with such a bank C., M. & St. P...... 100% 100% 100% age advance of the active issues apconnection from holding a seat upon a Del. & Hudson......148% 148% 148% stock exchange or from executing Erie. brokers' orders.

When questioned upon this point this morning Comptroller of the Currency Williams, a member of the Federal reserve board now in process of or-ganization, said that he considered the provisions of the reserve act very plain on this particular subject. The law as it relates to the activities

It is understood that Comptroller Williams understood that Comptroller Williams has written to these particular individuals advising them of the provisions of the law which will become effective immediately upon the organization of the heaver banks. When asked, however, whether or not he had suggested to these members of the exchange that they should cease their activities upon the exchange. Mr. Williams said that he did not care to say whether he had issued such a suggestion or order, as he did not desire to disclose his communications with national bank officials.

State Crop Statisticians Likely To Be Dropped

The Department of Agriculture is con-The Department of Agriculture is con-templating a change in the matter of handling the various State statistics, which, if it goes into effect, will reduce the force of statisticians by about half. Under the present scheme there is a field agent and a State agent in each State. The proposed change will com-bine the two into one office that of the field agent and as a Federal office that of State corn statistician will cease that of State crop statistician will cease that of State crop statistical will cease to exist.

As plans for such a change are not yet matured the department declined to discuss them in full stating that there is merely a possibility of the
